North Sydney Bears G2s v Thornleigh
The G2 Bears came from behind to win 19-18

Saturday, 22nd September 2007

This week's proceedings in many ways mirrored last week's encounter. Neither week saw the greatest of starts in the pitching department. Similarly, with few fielding errors, many cobwebs were still apparent in the field. Surely even the inning by inning crescendo of batting prowess was something that is looming as a trademark of the G2 team. If the G2 are to become a genuine contender for the finals, they must improve their pitching from the outset (the writer has some suspicions of who the likely culprits for unpredictable pitching are) and really must capitalise with more solid batting all round from the start of each game.

Writer's highlights in a game that saw a seesawing effect in the lead over and around four times were:

- The trademanslike series of singles from the top order in the batting, and especially the top order's generosity in leaving the bigger hits to pitchers (ahem) and to rookies
- Nick's home run with an RBI: his speed was as exceptional as his hit towards the fence. As indeed was his undying effort from the mound
- The performance of would be rookies. Robert's opposite field hitting may have left the other big (arguably bigger) hits of the game in his shadow, for positioning and the crucial times, late in the last few innings, that they came to the game
- Benevolent President Dumay's consistent and objective umpiring, considering expectation of the Bears and the spectators alike in the Rock's world famous 'big conditions'
- The stealing was sound, but the running off actual hits, seeing a long list of runs home from second, was something noteworthy, that all thirteen technical tacticians (ie the team) were very impressed with again
- What can you say of a player that walks five batters in a row, moves to shortstop, drops a catch after a twenty metre run, throws a runner out at home (after a sharp tag by Lord senior) and misses, wild mind you, every throw to first base. He also hit a double and triple, resisting the temptation to run ludicrously to home (having only been shouted to stop by third base coach Hags). If we can vote three counts to a player for sheer heart in mouth dramatic effect consistently throughout the game, it would have to be the writer.

We played today like it was the first game back after a very long break. Unfortunately it was our second game back, and last week we played well, so no excuses really. Our pitchers were pretty good today but not supported very well by the some poor fielding. Great to see Ben Heinl back at the Bears. We hit plenty of balls today, but most went straight to the fielding side. Credit to them as they made few errors today. Looking forward to the rock next week. Oh Yeah, Jimmy you're bringing the beers.

Back to winter baseball at North Ryde but the cold and wind couldn't stop an impressive game.

Hits aplenty - doubles to Dom, Nick - singles to Mitch, Dom, and Andreas (2) and and a tight sive effort saw us with a 10-2

Doc was com- manding on the mound with a single earned run and just 2 hits.

As they say fielding wins games. With just 2 errors and a string of great outfield catches - in swirling strong wind - we're proof of that.

Satisfying strong baseball. Early days but keep March free!

Until next time from the scorer's box...

A typical cold, windy day greeted the team at Greenway. After our illustrious leader arrived to play on the number one field, and was promptly told to bugger off and play on the kids field, we ventured over to the far side of the field to witness the end of some spectacular U10 baseball. Unfortunately, we weren't to be playing these Greenway players, and to make matters worse, they moved the bases back out to the full 90 feet (sorry Gary, Clay, et al)

Some more introductions, this time to only one new player, Shane, a few throws and batting practice, and we were ready to go.

Some shaky first up pitching from Greenway saw a 4 ball walk for Forbes, and the occasional strike thrown in amongst many more balls, ensuing walks, and a couple of hits. 4 runs to the good guys.

Having decided that our nations security was not as vital as playing baseball, Robertson deferred his flight plans 2 days so he could have a pitch. A shaky start on the mound did not show on the scoreboard. Robertson struggled for his usual control and speed, but did enough to keep Greenway under control, along with some great support by the outfield. One run to the bad guys.

Our second opportunity to score runs saw us bring in another 3 runs, with some great stealing, including stealing home on a throw from catcher to third base, base running, and patience from the batters. We then sorted their batters out quickly, with no damage to the scorebook. A great pick off Robertson to Arnold saw the baserunner so confused he fell on his date.

Another innings, another 4 runs to the Bears. A monster hit by Pomfret to deep left, followed by some fantastic running saw a comfortable triple magically turn into a double. A series of big fouls by Holland, before eventually crunching one to centre and hobbling out to first saw the emergence of "New Stoney". A third trip to the mound by Robertson again saw no damage to the scorebook, and included a great effort by Pomfret at third getting the runner comfortably at first, and another pick off at first saw the runner attempt one of the best efforts at avoiding Arnolds tag yet seen. It was reminiscent of an 8 yr old avoiding girl germs. Despite his efforts, girl germs he caught, and he was back to the dug out.

Our fourth innings, well. Who cares, we were 10 runs up. Oh great leader, feeling his work for the day was done, took himself to the bench, to have a cup of tea and scones with New Stoney, and Shane Flew came to the mound. After a brief meeting with Forbes, where Flew offered the following advice "I throw junk, That is all, no fast ball", we were ready to go. Ridiculous amounts of movement from Flew appeared to confuse the umpire, as he struggled to understand the basic premise of "Ball goes through strike zone, must be called strike". So with a restricted strike zone the size of Britney Spears musical talent, Flew set to work. A few hits resulted, as Flew struggled with his new target before he invited a visit to the mound. "I don't want to lose the game for us, take me off". Oh Great Leader "Nah, keep going. You will be fine". Five runs in, 3 batters out, Good guys win 11 to 6.

Doc Flies the Bears Flag at Norths Leagues Club

You'd think with sorting out the teams for Summer, arranging uniforms and serving as the club go-to guy, Doc would have enough on his plate. You would be mistaken. Last week, Doc represented the club at the President's Shield Dinner, handing over the President's Shield to the 2007 winner, Dave Eaton from the Jogger's Club. Congratulations to El Presidente', John Dumay, who was the Baseball nominee.

Just last week, Doc was presented with the Australian Government Sport Achievement Award by Joe Hockey and Jillian Skinner for contribution to the Baseball Club and the local community. Well deserved recognition for Doc and the club.

Pauly Backrow stars in Mosman Rugby Grand Final win

Club ironman Paul van der Westhuizen completed the 2007 4th Grade Rugby season on a high, starting in a 10-3 win over Woollahra Colleagues on Saturday. In front of a sizeable crowd for a 9:00am start, the Whales, ably assisted by the long-striding breakaway, held on to an early lead and absorbed waves of pressure in the second half from the gutsy Colleagues to claim the Judd Cup.

After the game, Pauly confirmed his commitment to the Bears for the summer season from Round 3. As you can appreciate, with plenty of celebrating ahead, playing baseball was not an option on this day.

Rivalry resumed but Saints take the honours

The B1 Bears' rivalry with Macquarie resumed at Waterloo Field on Saturday, albeit only against a handful of Saints players that left Flat Rock a month ago without the coveted silverware.

MS 1 NS 0

Our previous encounters have always been close, resulting in one run margins and even a draw. This game was to be no different, but unlike the winter '07 grand final where the Bears were on the right side of the score line, Macquarie this time took the honours.

Macquarie held a one run lead at the end of the first but the battle between Michael Taylor and the umpire in regards to the whereabouts of his strike zone was equally as engrossing.

The Bears made a statement in the top of the second by pushing across four. On a day of few highlights with the bat, the spectators got to see a little of what the Bears are capable of as Hoobs smashed a drive over the Saints' centre fielder and touched them all for an inside the park home run, which also earned him 3 RBI's.

In the field Hoobs was back to MVP form, striking out the Saints when they threatened with runners on base and effecting several outs from his own pitching. But his good work in the field wasn't matched by the rest of the side, and errors at crucial times proved costly. Eventually Macquarie made the most of the Bears' mistakes and unconvincingly pushed across 3 in the bottom of the fifth to turn their deficit into a one run lead.

In fading light, the Bears managed to load the bases and looked to be a chance to make Macquarie bat again, but as we'd done all too often in earlier innings we left them stranded. The bats were silent for the majority of the side, and a tally of five runs was never going to be enough against a side that generally hits well.

Kit was a welcome addition to the side and showed patience at the plate throughout the game, as did recent signing Steve. But more importantly, with a Kit and two Michael's (Bromley and Taylor) in the side, the scribe should get ample opportunity to make 'Nightrider' references in future editions of the Bear Pause (with apologies to those who are too young to remember).

Next week the road trip continues as we take on Rangers at Rofe Park. As Dr Michael Taylor said, 'you have to be sick to be well'. Well we've taken our medicine, and Rangers will be up against a healthy dose of a Bear with a sore head.

G1 Bears drop catches and game to Rangers 20-9

A week after dominating Macquarie Saints, G1 Bears looked to keep the ball rolling against the Rangers. On a blustery day at Flat Rock, defence was hard, and the Bears made it look harder.

The Rangers starter had a strong outing not giving much to the hitters until he got pulled. Once he left the game, the Bears bats woke up and piled on the maximum seven runs off the reliever but it all came a little too late as the Rangers had piled on the runs in the earlier innings.

The team hit well, with almost everyone chipping in, especially the younger crowd. The Bears pitched okay, with Dan, Scott “Hilary” Dumay and JD having a fair crack at the Rangers hitters. But some inexperience in the field and a couple of misses by Hammer Holman who may have been asleep behind the plate cost the Bears (mate there is such a thing as the inside corner of the plate!) who went down by 20-9.

El Presidente is urging everyone to get to training to polish their fielding skills this Thursday. Hopefully better luck next week.

CUB PAUSE

Wet and windy it was on the 22nd of September at Manly. We were up against the Manly Seaside Tigers and it didn't look hopeful for a game to commence. However after a 15 minute discussion the game was on.

We were away so bears bat first. Bears started flat and were not really concentrating on the ball while at bat. We were all out with no runs scored and only four batters through the order. Manly came to bat and took advantage of the bears slackness, however Aiden Mackie pitched well to limit Manly's score to one.

Second Innings the bears decided to pick up their game. strong running and batting performances by Ben, Ashely and Josh applied pressure to the Manly side. We were held off and only scored one run. Tom started the second innning with some outstanding pitching. However was only being awarded typical strikes. The Manly side gained one run from that inning.

The last inning... The bears really fought hard and batted very well. Solid hits from Eddy and Tom scored a large number of runs. Smart base running from Jamie and Yuki also were influential moments of this inning. We had scored five runs which made the score 6-2. We went to the field and had to hold Manly to only three runs. Tom made it a lot harder for this to happen as he struck out the first two batters. The last batter grounded it to Yuki and an easy run back to first base sealed the game.

Final score Bears 6 - Manly 2

It was a good result for the first competition match. However the bears have a few things to work on at training.
