WHITE SHIRT
DAY, what can you come up with?

Across the desk of the President:

COVID19 has still got a long way to go, before we are back to normal (although in saying that is what we are experiencing the new normal?).

The club started off at the beginning of June with our Social distancing shooting, 2 time slots.

Sat 31st May, saw the Double Australian Indoor 1 being shot, as well as the WA Indoor 2, with the balance of rounds for Saturday only at this point in time being put on line until the end of June.

Timing: We feel that the club has the timing in place to ensure that the club meets its COVID19 restrictions, so please ensure that you comply with requests being made.

Awards: As most of you would now be aware, contact has been made with each member to advise what awards have been achieved, since they commenced shooting. The club went back to when archers diary started (2015) and claimed all the awards for each of our members, so now these are sitting in Archers Diary under "MY STUFF". The club has given a small incentive for members to purchase stock now, so that we can deplete, then going forwards as members achieve awards we will notify them through the newsletter, and then only order stock as required, so members have until the end of June to claim directly from the club at the lower cost.....seems easy, work in progress!

Archers Diary has also seen a few changes. After each event now it will list: Awards Achieved / Classifications and how many rounds you have shot that classification / Club records broken (this is still work in progress, but won't be long before this will be automated also).

Awards Achieved: for first 2 weeks in June are:

Anton Van der Watt: AG & Perfect @ 18#, AG30/35/30m*

Maria Wright: AG40/35/18m#

Leanne Spencer – AG @ 25/60cm face, AG40*/30m*

Peter Whitfield – AG35/30m*

Jack Chambers-McLean – AG40m/35m

Massimo Llana - AG35m/20m

Kane Wilson – AG20m*

*80cm face #indoor face

BIG MORNING TEA: promotion 2nd half of May, didn't get the response we would have hoped, but still photos were received. The recorder and myself had a working Morning tea, which means the President & Treasurers Team received 1 point.

The President's Team also gained 2 points with this photo and the Treasurers Team 1 Needless to say Steve not being a tea drinker compromised!

JDRF again as mentioned most charities are feeling the pinch due to COVID19, Junior Diabetes Research Foundation being one of them, having to cancel their Annual Fundraising Ball & Walk. Therefore, they had a new initiative 'Annual Giving Day', that for every $ raised on the 11th June, a corporation would allocate $1, with the aim to raise $1M on 1 day. Forest Coach Lines also support myself with the support of Warringah Archers so for every $1 raised, they would match upto $1K, which resulted in us achieving $3760.00 – thanks to those of you who made a donation, your support is greatly appreciated. The Annual Giving Day, achieved 128% success.

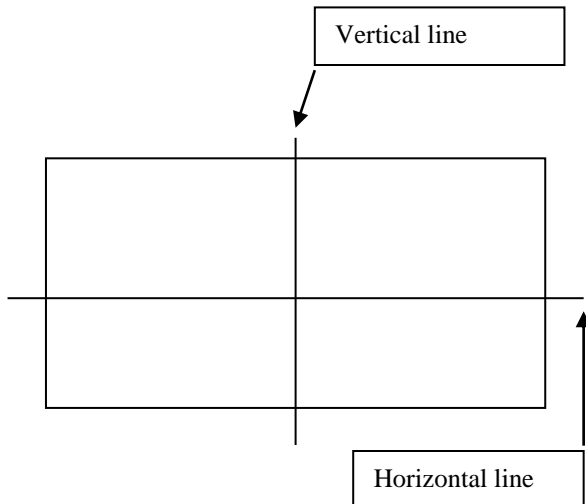

OUR NEXT CHALLENGE from now until the 30th June is to support White Shirt Day. I am sure most of our members would be able to actively support this by taking a photo of themselves and/or family members all Wearing white shirts? Think outside the box, what could you come up with...Let's have some fun doing it! Organisation we would be supporting: Ovarian Cancer Research foundation. Ovarian Cancer is an insidious disease, often known as a 'silent killer' as symptoms are vague and often strike without warning. Let's see how many hits Warringah can post on their face book page within the next two weeks. Warringah Archers the club that cares. For each photo / editorial we receive a donation will go to the above charity. www.whiteshirtcampaign.com.au

Coaching Tips:

The Uncertainty of Centre Shot

Everybody who has set up bows knows the grief involved with setting up centre shot on both recurve and compound. I have found a very accurate way of doing this without having to shoot hundreds of arrows to get it right. Most people line up centre shot with limb gauges and say to themselves "That's about right." I have a piece of cardboard, drawn up as follows:

Draw a large dot in the centre where the lines cross.

First set your nocking point so that the bare shaft impacts slightly below the horizontal line at about 25 metres. Good rule of thumb is about an inch to an inch and a half low. Now, still at 25m, shoot fletched arrows at the centre dot and adjust either the launcher or the pressure button for the best group you can achieve.

Compound – now shoot a bare shaft from the normal nocking point. If your centre shot is correct it will impact directly under the fletched group. To verify the centre shot, nock another bare shaft above the nocking point and shoot it. It will go lower than the first one. Centre shot is correct if the second bare shaft is directly below the first one. A further test is to nock a bare shaft an eighth of an inch further below the nocking point and shoot that. It will go high. All three bare shafts should impact on the vertical line. Now go back to about 40m or 70m and check your fletched groups. Make very small adjustments to your centre shot to compensate for your style if you have any sideways variations.

Recurve – The same principal should be applied as for compound but the recurve is a little more complicated. The only other variable with recurve is the cushion plunger spring tension. Ignore the spring tension for the time being because if you have shot the bow already the spring tension must be pretty close to correct.

Shoot your fletched group at the centre dot to achieve the best group. Shoot a bare shaft, which will impact low by about an inch to an inch and a half. Shoot another bare shaft from above the nocking point. It will go lower and should be directly below the first bare shaft. Shoot another bare shaft from below the nocking point. It will go high. All three bare shafts should be in a vertical line.

Note: Right handed archers – if arrows are a little stiff, they will impact slightly left of the fletched arrows. If they are slightly soft they will impact to the right. This is all right as long as all three bare shafts are in a vertical line.

So far you have only shot about 20 arrows. Now go back to your further distance between 40 & 70m and shoot fletched arrows. See what sized group you shoot. You may have to make very small adjustments on your centre shot to allow for any variations in your shooting style. Remember, move your centre shot first and then tighten up the groups by using the spring tension on the plunger button.

Congratulations, you have just achieved a very nice group with not too much grief involved.

TRAINAHOOK

For archers who use finger release, the role of the 'hook' cannot be over-emphasised. Wayward and off-target shots are frequently – but incorrectly, blamed on equipment and conditions. Those shots that are consistently drawn to the left or right, are not the result of some unseen cosmic intervention. They're more likely to be caused by too-much or, too-little pressure on one or several of the archer's 'pinkies'. An overly heavy forefinger can send an arrow almost into orbit!

Our engineers have studied this classic problem and devised the perfect training aid –

The Trainahook.

The key to Trainahook's success is the careful matching of digi-springs, pseudo-studs and carbon tensioners. It's virtually indestructible!

To confirm Trainahook's true value it was recently tested on 500 archers of all ages. Each one reported an increased accuracy rate of at least 37% - a figure which speaks volumes for the effectiveness of this training aid. It happily also suggests age is no barrier to change.

Trainahook can be adjusted to fit hands of all sizes and release preferences, and is available in LH and RH.
(Please note! Wearers of this superb innovation should exercise great care when scratching facial itches)

JOKE OF THE MONTH

A New Priest at his first mass was so scared he could hardly speak. After services he asked the monsignor how he had done. "Fine, but next week it might help if you put a little vodka or gin in your water to relax you".

The next week the new priest put vodka in his water and really kicked up a storm. After mass, he asked the monsignor how he had done this time.

"Fine, " he said, "But there are a few things you should get straight."

1. There are ten commandments, not twelve
2. There are twelve disciples, not ten
3. David slew Goliath, he didn't kick the Sh.. out of him.
4. We don't refer to Jesus Christ as the late J.C.
5. The Father, Son & the Holy Ghost, are not big daddy, junior and the spook.
6. Moses parted the water at the Red Sea, he didn't pass water.
7. We do not refer to Judas as El Finko
8. The pope is consecrated not castrated and we do not refer to him as the Godfather.

Bless you my son !

DON'T FORGET these are classification badges. Indoor on a black background. Target – bronze. Clout & Field on Silver
